FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Ernst & Young announces Trans Ova Genetics' president Dr. David Faber is an Entrepreneur Of The Year® 2012 finalist in the Central Midwest

Sioux Center, Iowa, June 11, 2012 – Ernst & Young LLP today announced that Dr. David Faber, president of Trans Ova Genetics, a company that offers industry-leading advanced reproductive technologies such as embryo transfer (ET), In Vitro Fertilization (IVF), sexed semen, genetic preservation and cloning, was named a finalist in the Ernst & Young Entrepreneur Of The Year® 2012 program in the Central Midwest region. The award recognizes outstanding entrepreneurs who demonstrate excellence and extraordinary success in such areas as innovation, financial performance and personal commitment to their businesses and communities. Dr. Faber was selected by a panel of independent judges. Awards were presented at a special gala on June 5, 2012 at the Sheraton Overland Park Hotel in Overland Park, Kansas.

Now in its 26th year, the Entrepreneur Of The Year Program has expanded to recognize business leaders in more than 140 cities in more than 50 countries throughout the world.

Regional award winners are eligible for consideration for the Ernst & Young National Entrepreneur Of The Year Program. Award winners in several national categories, as well as the Ernst & Young National Entrepreneur Of The Year Overall Award winner, will be announced at the annual awards gala in Palm Springs, California, on November 17, 2012. The awards are the culminating event of the Ernst & Young Strategic Growth Forum, the nation's most prestigious gathering of high-growth, market-leading companies.

Sponsors

Founded and produced by Ernst & Young LLP, the Entrepreneur Of The Year Awards are nationally sponsored in the United States by SAP America and the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation.

In the Central Midwest region, sponsors include Armstrong Teasdale, Enterprise Bank & Trust, Faegre Baker Daniels, Lockton Companies, and Stinson Morrison Hecker.
